Dr Christina Lee
Senior Lecturer
Department of Communication and Cultural Studies
Email: c.lee@curtin.edu.au

Christina was appointed as Lecturer in Communication and Cultural Studies in 2006, and has been Course Coordinator of the Literary and Cultural Studies major since 2012. She teaches undergraduate units in her disciplinary area and core first-year Humanities units within the School of Media, Culture and Creative Arts (MCCA). She further supervises Honours, Masters and Doctoral dissertations. Christina’s areas of research are in Film and Cultural Studies (specifically cultural memory, space and affect, fandom, youth cinema, popular culture). Christina was nominated for Curtin University’s Guild Excellence in Teaching Award 2013 for Undergraduate Lecturer/Tutor (she didn’t win but like the Academy Awards it was nice to be a nominee!).

Specialty areas of teaching
(Inter)active learning strategies; student participation; development of critical thinking and application of theory; fostering a supportive learning environment.

Description of teaching to showcase to others
Christina’s lectures feature a diversity of multi-media materials, examples and active strategies that engage students in the learning process. Her teaching focuses upon development of critical thinking and application of theory to students’ everyday experiences within a high-energy, supportive teaching and learning environment.
